

Quartz Master to Introduce Five New Quartz Designs at The International Surface Event (TISE) 2017

Bayonne, New Jersey, December 28, 2016

Bayonne, New Jersey - Quartz Master, the leading quartz surface manufacturer, is excited to attend The International Surface Event (TISE) 2017 from January 18th through the 20th in Mandalay Bay Convention Center, in Las Vegas.

Quartz Master's dynamic exhibition will feature five new quartz designs. They are the newest addition to the Marble Collection: Callacutta Miel, Callacutta Luna, Callacutta Lincoln, Callacutta L'Ellair and White Macuabus.

Quartz Master was the first manufacturer to introduce marble inspired designs in quartz. Acher Cohen, President of Quartz Master reminisces, "When I first started to manufacture quartz, I was excited about developing a product that was durable and resilient such as quartz but marble inspired me and I couldn't get it out of my head. So I decided to combine the two. Since then, there have been many imitators. Like the saying goes, "imitation is a form a flattery." But few compare to the style and quality of our quartz. And I am extremely proud of that."

In May of 2010, Cohen started working with engineers to make his marble designs a reality. After 12 months of research, development and many attempts Callacutta Grey was born. It is still their best selling quartz. Today, the Quartz Master's Marble Collection has 27 designs. In total, Quartz Master has 61 designs. Cohen is still the lead designer of Quartz Master's Marble Collection.
